BEFORE THE DEPARTMENT OF TRANSPORTATION OFFICE OF THE SECRETARY WASHINGTON, D.C.

Mike Borsetti Third Party Complainant v.

American Airlines, Inc.

Violations of 14 CFR Part 221 and 49 U.S.C. §§ 41504 and 41712

Docket DOT-OST-2020-

COMPLAINT

1. This complaint concerns violations by American Airlines, Inc. (American Airlines) of 14 CFR 221 Subpart K, the Department's public tariff inspection rule. American Airlines removed the ability for the public to inspect the international tariff's General Rules at aa.com, the principal location at which American sells tickets for passenger transportation. This complaint asks that the Department direct American Airlines to comply with its tariff inspection rule and restore the ability to inspect the tariff at aa.com.

A. APPLICABLE LAW

2. As the Department has itself summarized,¹ the tariff establishes the "legally binding terms in the contract of carriage for international air transportation." Longstanding principles of contract law -- not to mention fundamental fairness as well as the Department's public tariff inspection rules discussed below -- require that passengers and prospective passengers have a meaningful opportunity to review the tariff provisions to which they are to be bound.

3. Pursuant to 14 CFR 221.101(a), each carrier shall make available for public inspection at each of its stations, offices, or other locations at which tickets for passenger transportation are sold and which is in charge of a person employed exclusively by the carrier, or by it jointly with another person, all tariffs applicable to passenger traffic from or to the point where such station, office, or location is situated, including tariffs covering any terminal services, charges, or practices whatsoever, which apply to passenger traffic from or to such point.

4. Pursuant to 14 CFR 221.101(b), a carrier will be deemed to have complied with the requirement that it "post" tariffs, if it maintains at each station, office, or location a file in complete form of all tariffs required to be posted; and in the case of tariffs involving passenger fares, rules, charges or practices, notice to the passenger as required in § 221.105.

5. Pursuant to 14 CFR 221.102, each file of tariffs shall be kept in complete and accessible form.

B. FACTS

6. American Airlines owns and operates aa.com, which is the largest location at which it sells tickets for passenger transportation in the United States.

7. In the past, the General Rules of its international tariff were posted at such location, specifically at https://www.aa.com/i18n/Tariffs/AA1.html, and incorporated by reference into its Contract for Carriage in compliance with 14 CFR 211.107(a)(2).

8. In early June 2020, in the middle of the pandemic, American removed the General rules of the international tariff from aa.com. I alerted American of the problem on 2 June via a public Tweet, available at https://twitter.com/mborsetti/sta-tus/1267968282046300160 (see Exhibit A).

9. On 4 June, American acknowledged the issue to me by email stating "We are looking into this matter" (see Exhibit B).

10. On 20 July, I noticed that the General Rules of the international tariff were still not posted on aa.com, so I contacted American again (see Exhibit C). Fifty days have elapsed, and American has yet to respond.

11. On information and belief, the General Rules of the international tariff are still not available for inspection at aa.com as of today. 98 days have elapsed since American Airlines was made aware of its infringement of the Department's public tariff inspection rule, and 96 days since it acknowledged it.

C. DISCUSSION

12. The Department's public tariff inspection rule is clear in defining American's obligation to make its tariff accessible at aa.com, providing an adequate level of convenience to consumers.

13. American may claim that 14 CFR 293.20 relieves it from the public tariff inspection rule, but 14 CFR 293.20 does not apply to contract terms, which the General Rules of the international tariff consists of.

14. American may claim that 14 CFR Subpart B relieves it from the public tariff inspection rule, but this subpart only applies to the duty of the carrier to file the tariff with the Department, not to its duty to make such tariff available to the public. Furthermore, American sells passenger transportation tickets at aa.com and conducts air transportation between the United States and all but one of the Category C countries for which the substance of the waiver to file tariffs of 14 CFR Subpart B does not apply.²

² American provides international air transportation to the following Category C countries: Anguilla, Bermuda, the Cayman Islands (Grand Cayman), the Hong Kong Special Administrative Region of China, the Turks & Caicos Islands (Providenciales) and the British Virgin Islands (Tortola).

15. Since early June, American has been selling tickets for international air transportation, including to Category C countries, requiring consumers to accept "terms and conditions":

I agree to the terms and conditions @

These consist of the international tariff part known as "fare rules" (see Exhibit D), but American did not provide contemporaneous access to the General Rules of the same tariff to these passengers.

16. American might claim that such rules are contained in its "Conditions of Carriage" (Exhibit E), a document which indeed states that "this contract is the entire agreement that governs your rights and responsibilities as a passenger" (emphasis added),³ but in truth American continues to file its General Rules of the international tariff with the Airline Tariff Publishing Company (ATPCO) (Exhibit F), and ATPCO in turn files them with the Department, where they are subject to review, as tariff Number 465 as required by 14 CFR Subpart B, and with foreign governments.

17. 49 U.S.C § 41504 and 14 CFR Part 221 are clear that the tariff is the legally binding contract of carriage for international air transportation. Indeed, American recognizes this by continuing to file the General Rules of the international tariff with governments in formal industry and regulatory channels. Yet it tells passengers that only its

³ While in the past American's Conditions of Carriage remanded to and incorporated the posted General Rules of the international tariff in cases of international air transportation, this is no longer the case.

"Conditions of Carriage" govern, withdrawing the tariff's General Rules from the one place where passengers could reasonably read it. This is an untenable combination.

18. American's approach is plainly unlawful under the Department's public tariff inspection rule at 221.101(b), requiring that a carrier "post" "all" tariffs in "complete form", as well as 221.102, requiring that tariffs be both "complete" and "accessible".

19. Finally, American's substitution is deceptive. Listing only a few of the scores of examples:

- a. The tariff's Rule 80 offers far greater clarity than the "Conditions of Carriage" as to how passengers are to be treated during a schedule irregularity;
- b. The tariff's Rule 90(d) offers more precise statements of the situations entitling a passenger to an involuntary refund to original form of payment, notably including the benefit of such refund in case of substitution of equipment unacceptable to the passenger (a benefit nowhere mentioned in "Conditions of Carriage" or, so far as I know, anywhere else on aa.com);
- c. The tariff's Rule 90(d)(2) offers a specific mathematical calculation for refund after an involuntary downgrade;
- d. The tariff Rule 116 offers detailed rules on baggage including certain exclusions not otherwise stated;
- e. And many others.

Broadly, the tariff explains many contractual rights and obligations that American does not otherwise communicate to consumers. Remarkably, the "Conditions of Carriage" even claim to deny passengers the benefits promised within the tariff.⁴ Willfully withholding benefits from consumers that they contractually have under tariff is prima facie evidence of intent to deceive.⁵

D. "UNPRECEDENTED" CIRCUMSTANCES

20. In its answer, American may resort to citing trite "unprecedented" circumstances related to COVID-19. Yet:

> a. American willfully redirected resources during the pandemic to remove the posting of the General Rules of the international tariff from public inspection, a process that one assumes requires multiple layers of approval (American needed to do nothing more than preserve the status quo as it stood before the pandemic);

- Prohibited booking practices
- Check-in and arrival (including a list of airports with earlier check-in times than what is in the Conditions of Carriage itself)
- Traveling with children and infants (including all regulations on this matter)
- Unaccompanied minor service
- Checked bag policies (including the free allowances and fees)
- Oversize and overweight baggage (including the fees)
- Specialty and sports equipment (including the fees)
- Customer service plan

⁴ The Contract of Carriage both states "this contract is the entire agreement that governs your rights and responsibilities as a passenger" and that American "provided links to pages on our site for more information, but those pages are not part of this contract". In addition to the Terms and conditions that are provided through links and that therefore are not part of the contract include:

b. American received $5.8 billion from the Payroll Support Program (PSP) for staff salaries and benefits, $4.1 billion of which in the form of a direct grant. It therefore had the personnel available to re-post a single electronic file to its longstanding location at aa.com after it was made aware of the issue by my public Tweet

WHEREFORE, I, Mike Borsetti demand that the Department:

21. Opens enforcement proceedings under 49 U.S.C. § 41712 and 14 CFR 302.407;

22. Finds American Airlines in violation of 49 U.S.C § 41504 for claiming that an agreement other than the tariff "is the entire agreement that governs [the] rights and responsibilities as a passenger" for foreign air transportation;

23. Finds American Airlines in violation of 49 U.S.C. § 41712 and 14 CFR 221 Subpart K (the Department's public tariff inspection rule) by failing to make General Rules of the international tariff available for public inspection at its largest ticketing location;

24. Investigates American's practice since early June of forcing consumers to buy tickets without the applicable contract of carriage (in the form of the General Rules of the international tariff pursuant to 49 U.S.C § 41504) being accessible at the moment of purchase;

25. Orders American Airlines and its successors and assigns to cease and desist from further violations of 14 CFR 221 Subpart K and 49 U.S.C. §§ 41510 and 41712;

26. Assess appropriate civil penalties on American Airlines pursuant to 49 U.S.C. § 46301.

Respectfully submitted,

Mike Borsetti

Contract details This content can be expanded

When you buy a ticket or fly on an American Airlines operated flight, you agree:

- To the extent not preempted by federal law, Texas law applies to this contract and any dispute from your ticket purchase or travel on American Airlines without regard to conflict of law principles.
- This contract cannot be modified or waived unless authorized in writing by an American Airlines corporate officer.
- Even if you didn't pay for your ticket, for example if you're one of multiple passengers in the same reservation, this contract is an agreement between us and you.
- We provided links to pages on our site for more information, but those pages are not part of this contract.
- Though we translated these conditions of carriage for convenience, the English language version is the official, legal version.
- This contract is the entire agreement that governs your rights and responsibilities as a passenger. If we don't enforce a right under this contract in one case, it does not waive our right to enforce the contract later. And if any part of this contract is found invalid or unenforceable, we'll strike what's invalid or unenforceable without effect to the rest of the contract.

You

As a passenger, you're required to act in way that's consistent with ensuring the safety of everyone on board. This includes complying with the laws and travel requirements of the countries we fly to, from or over. Traveling can be stressful, and we appreciate your patience and courtesy.

Passenger responsibilities This content can be expanded

Complying with the law and government regulations

To fly on American, you must:

- Have a valid photo ID accepted by the TSA (like a driver's license or other government issued ID).
- Have a valid passport, visa and any travel documents required if you're traveling internationally.
- Allow your baggage to be inspected by Customs, the TSA or other government officials.

Be sure your driver's license complies with REAL ID and that your passport is valid or you may not be allowed to board your flight. Some countries require your passport be valid for 3 - 6 months beyond your departure date, so be sure you know the rules before you travel.

We are not responsible for any loss, damage or expense if you do not meet the travel document requirements.

More about ID requirements

Complying with airline rules for safety

The safety and comfort of our customers and team members is our top priority. We will respond seriously to any language or behavior that threatens the well-being or functionality of our crew and airport team members. Violent or inappropriate actions may result in the denial of boarding, removal from the terminal or legal prosecution.

To ensure a safe environment for everyone, you must:

- Allow you and your bags to be searched for explosives, dangerous weapons or banned substances.
- Show a valid ID.
- Understand and comply with all safety instructions.
- Release us from responsibility for any loss, damage or expense if you do not meet the travel document requirements.
- Behave appropriately and respectfully with other passengers, crew and airport team members.
- Postpone your flight if you have a dangerous disease deemed transmissible by a federal public health authority.
- Be respectful that your odor isn't offensive (unless it's caused by a disability or illness).
- Dress appropriately; bare feet or offensive clothing aren't allowed.
- Not threaten the safety of the flight in any way.
- Have the right travel documents and be allowed to travel to, from or through any countries in your itinerary.
- Be able to sit with your seatbelt fastened.

If your physical or mental condition is such that in American's sole opinion, you are rendered or likely to be rendered incapable of comprehending or complying with safety instructions without the assistance of an attendant, American may refuse to transport you.

In addition, you may be asked to give up your seat if a government official needs space, for weather conditions requiring reduced aircraft load, or for other conditions beyond our control.

Failing to comply

We may not let you fly (temporarily or permanently) for any reason, including if you:

- Don't obey the law
- Are uncooperative or show the potential to be uncooperative on board
- Pose a risk to safety or security
- Appear intoxicated or under the influence of drugs
- Attempt to interfere with the flight crew or refuse to obey instructions
- Fail to comply with American Airlines rules or policies
- Need to be removed for your safety or the safety of other passengers or the crew
- Have a communicable disease or virus
- Are traveling with an animal that causes a delay or damage to the plane or other passengers

You may also be liable for any loss, damage or expense resulting from your conduct. For example, you may be liable for the costs if we have to divert to another city because of your conduct. Also, under U.S. law you may be liable if you assault a federal, airport or airline employee with security duties. Failing to meet passenger responsibilities is a material breach of this contract.

Children traveling This content can be expanded

We welcome children of all ages on board. Be sure you know the rules for your child based on his or her age. We count "age" based on the child's age the day of departure.

Traveling with children and infants

Infants (under 2 years)

- One infant under 2 can travel in your lap. You are not required to pay for a separate seat unless you have an FAA approved car seat you plan to use on board.
- There may be a fee for infants traveling outside the U.S.
- Infants as young as 2 days old can fly, but any infant under 7 days old needs a passenger medical form filled out by your doctor before flying.
- Infants must be accompanied by a parent (any age) or someone 16 years or older in the same cabin.

Children (2 years or older)

- Children 2 and older must have a purchased seat. If your child turns 2 during a trip, the child will need their own seat for the remainder of the trip.
- Children under 5 years cannot travel alone.

Traveling with children and infants

Unaccompanied minor service

Our unaccompanied minor service ensures your child is escorted on the plane, introduced to the flight attendant, chaperoned during connections and brought to the person you designate when they arrive. Keep in mind, flight attendants can't continuously monitor children during flight.

YOUR FLIGHT

When it comes to checking in and arriving at the airport, earlier is better. Give yourself extra time if you're checking bags or traveling internationally.

Before you head to the airport, you can check for travel alerts that impact the cities in your trip and get flight status information like gates and times.

- Travel alerts

Check-in and arrival This content can be expanded

Check-in times

You can check in on aa.com and in the app beginning 24 hours before departure. All airports have minimum check-in times. If you're not checked in by the minimum check-in time, we may reassign your seat to another passenger.

In most cities, you must be checked in:

- At least 45 minutes before scheduled departure, for flights within the U.S.
- At least 60 minutes before scheduled departure, for flights to or from airports outside of the U.S.

Some airports require you to check in earlier.

Check-in and arrival

Travel on American Airlines Shuttle

For flights between Boston (BOS), New York LaGuardia (LGA) and Washington D.C. Reagan (DCA) you need to check in:

- 30 minutes before scheduled departure (if checking a bag)
- 20 minutes before scheduled departure (no checked bags)

For flights between Chicago (ORD) and LGA

- 35 minutes before scheduled departure (if checking a bag)
- 25 minutes before scheduled departure (no checked bags)

Arriving at the gate

Be at the gate and ready to board the plane at least:

- 30 minutes before departure on domestic flights
- 45 minutes before departure for international flights

You must have a boarding pass with a valid seat assignment to board the plane.

Boarding ends 15 minutes before departure. If you're not on board, we may reassign your seat to another passenger. You will not be allowed to board once the doors close.

If you're on a codeshare flight operated by one of our partners, check with that airline.

Changes to schedules / operations This content can be expanded

Sometimes we have to make adjustments to our operation, and between the time you book and the day you depart, there may be changes to:

- The type of plane you're flying on
- Your seat
- The airline that operates your flight
- The number of stopovers or stopover cities
- Departure or arrival times

When there are changes that affect your trip, we'll try to contact you in advance and move you to a similar seat, though we can't make any guarantees.

We do our best to be on time but our flight schedule is not guaranteed and not part of this contract. We are not liable if:

- We're late or you don't make your connection
- We change the schedule of any flight
- There are special, incidental or consequential damages because of these changes
- Your checked baggage is late (except as required by statute, regulation, or Convention)

Rules for delays on international trips are governed by the Montreal Convention and Warsaw Convention. The full linked page provides more information and is incorporated by reference.

Montreal Convention and Warsaw Convention

Events beyond our control (Force Majeure) This content can be expanded

When there's an event we can't control like weather, a strike or other civil disorder, we may have to cancel, divert or delay flights. If your ticket still has value (if you were, for example, re-accommodated in a different class of service) we'll refund the unused portion to the original form of payment, but beyond that we are not liable.

Such "Force Majeure" events include:

- Meteorological or weather conditions
- Civil disturbances including war, embargoes or unsettled international conditions (real or threatened)
- Acts of terror
- Public health emergencies of domestic or international concern
- Labor disputes that involve or affect our service
- Government regulations or requirements
- Shortage of labor, fuel or facilities of American or others
- Any fact not reasonably foreseen or predicted by American

International air transportation liability is regulated by the Montreal Convention and Warsaw Convention.

Montreal Convention and Warsaw Conventions

Oversold flights This content can be expanded

A flight is "oversold" when there are more checked-in passengers than seats. When this happens, our team gets involved as early as possible to find volunteers to change flights.

When, despite our best efforts, we don't have enough volunteers, we'll have to choose customers to change flights involuntarily, and deny boarding. If this happens, we will follow the DOT's compensation rules. We will do our best to get those customers on the next possible flight.

We will not involuntarily remove a revenue passenger who has already boarded to give a seat to another passenger.

Voluntary denied boarding

We will ask for passengers who are willing to voluntarily give up their seats in exchange for travel credit in an agreed upon amount. The amount of compensation offered for volunteers is solely at American's discretion.

When you volunteer to give up your confirmed seat on a flight, we will compensate you with travel credit in an amount we think is fair.

Involuntary denied boarding

If there aren't enough volunteers, we will choose customers to change flights involuntarily and deny boarding.

Boarding priority is given to certain customers, including to those who:

- Have special assistance needs
- Are traveling as an unaccompanied minor
- Have AAdvantage elite status
- Paid for First, Business or Premium Economy
- Checked in earliest

The selection of customers who are involuntarily denied seats is solely at American's discretion.

You will not receive involuntary denied boarding compensation if:

- You fail to comply with American's ticketing, check-in and reconfirmation requirements, or you're not acceptable for transportation under American's usual rules and practices.
- Your flight is canceled.
- We switch to a smaller plane for safety or operational reasons.
- Your plane has 60 or fewer seats and there are safety-related weight/balance restrictions.
- You're offered a seat in a section of the plane that's different from your original ticket. If you are seated in a section for which a lower fare is charged, you will be given an appropriate refund.
- We're able to get you to your next stopover or final destination within 1 hour of your original arrival time.

Compensation for involuntary denied boarding

DOT rules determine how much you're compensated based on how late you'll be to your stopover or destination. Our goal is to get you to your next scheduled stopover or final destination as soon as possible, so we may offer flights on other airlines and non-air travel such as by train. If your flight is oversold and you're not allowed to board, we'll give you a check or travel credit the same day at the airport or mail it within 24 hours.

Travel within U.S.

- Up to 1 hour arrival delay not compensated
- 1 2 hour arrival delay 200% of one-way fare (max. $675)
- 2+ hour arrival delay 400% of one-way fare (max. $1,350)

International

- Up to 1 hour arrival delay not compensated
- 1 4 hour arrival delay 200% of one-way fare (max. $675)
- 4+ hour arrival delay 400% of one-way fare (max. $1,350)

Travel from European Union countries (EU)

If you're not allowed to board an oversold, nonstop flight from the EU to the U.S., you may be eligible to receive one of these:

- A travel voucher that can be used for 1 ticket to anywhere American flies
- A check for 300 EUR (arrival delays under 4 hours) or 600 EUR (arrival delays more than 4 hours)

Travel to or from Canada

If you're not allowed to board a flight to or from Canada, the Canada Air Passenger Protection Regulations may provide additional protections, including compensation.

Canada passengers

Delays, cancellations and diversions This content can be expanded

Our goal is to provide timely, frequent and helpful updates – at the airport and on board – when there are delays, cancellations and diversions.

Rebooking your delayed/canceled flight

When your flight is canceled or a delay will cause you to miss your connection, we'll rebook you on the next flight with available seats. If you decide not to fly because your flight was delayed or canceled, we'll refund the remaining ticket value and any optional fees.

Delays caused by us

If the delay is our fault or you're diverted to another city, and we don't board before 11:59 p.m. local time on your scheduled arrival day, we'll arrange an overnight stay or cover the cost of an approved hotel, if available.

Delays beyond our control (like weather)

If the delay is beyond our control, you're responsible to pay for your hotel, meals and other expenses. An American Airlines agent may be able to help you find a hotel.

Taking care of delayed passengers

We'll do our best to ensure delayed passengers are as comfortable as possible. Gate agents are asked to look after customers with special needs including unaccompanied minors, customers with disabilities and the elderly.

For long delays on the plane, we'll make every reasonable effort to ensure you have food (such as crackers or biscuits), water, access to the restroom and basic medical assistance if needed.

We are not responsible for any special, incidental or consequential damages if we're unable to meet this commitment.

Travel to or from Canada

If your flight is delayed or cancelled due to reasons within our control, the Canada Air Passenger Protection Regulations may provide additional protections, including compensation.

YOUR TICKET, BAGS AND REFUNDS

Baggage This content can be expanded

All bags are subject to inspection. We will not accept checked or carry-on bags we think are unsuitable for transportation for reasons like size, weight or character.

Before you go to the airport, be sure to check our baggage page for information on all our checked and carry-on baggage policies.

Baggage

Checking your bag

You can only check bags on the day you travel, and your bags must travel to the same ticketed final destination as you. Be sure your name is on all bags before you check them.

If you're flying from one of these airports, you can't check bags more than 4 hours before departure:

- Denver (DEN)
- Fort Lauderdale (FLL)
- Las Vegas (LAS)
- Orlando (MCO)
- Portland (PDX)
- Salt Lake City (SLC)
- Seattle (SEA)

Baggage limits and fees

The number of bags you can check depends on your destination. Checked bag fees apply with some exceptions. All bag fees are non-refundable and apply per person, each way. Additional fees may apply for overweight / oversize bags or specialty items.

Also, you may have to pay bag fees again if:

- You are connecting on another airline
- Your connection on American is more than 12 hours later
- Checked bag policies
- Oversize and overweight baggage
- Specialty and sports equipment

Claiming your bag

Hang on to your baggage claim tickets; you may have to show your ticket to claim your bags. The airport baggage office will release bags to the person with the baggage claim ticket that matches. If you lose your ticket, we may ask for ID.

When you arrive in the U.S. from an international city, you will claim your checked bags before going through Customs.

Delayed bags

If you arrive on American at your final destination and your bags have not arrived with you, our goal is to return them within 24 hours (for flights within the U.S., Puerto Rico and the U.S. Virgin Islands).

Some of the reasons it may take us longer to get you your delayed bags include if:

- We don't have a local name, address or phone number for you
- You're on a cruise, in remote camp site or somewhere we can't reasonably reach you
- You changed your delivery address
- We have limited flights to your destination
- Weather or other operational issues get in the way

If you arrive at your final destination on another airline, please check with that airline for information.

Carry-on bags

In general, you're allowed 1 bag and 1 personal item:

- Your bag must fit in the sizer at the airport.
- Your personal item must fit under the seat in front of you.
- All bags must be stowed before takeoff.

Diaper bags, child safety seats, strollers and medical or mobility devices don't count as your bag or personal item. You may carry on a fully collapsible stroller if it's under 20 lbs. and fits in an overhead bin. All other strollers must be checked at a ticket counter.

We always reserve the right to decide if your carry-on items are suitable to bring on board and if there is enough space in the overhead bins.

If you need to check your carry-on bags, be sure to take any fragile or valuable items like your keys, medication or computers with you on board. Also remove and carry on any e-cigarettes and spare batteries for laptops, cameras or other mobile devices.

There are additional carry-on restrictions for certain fares, aircraft and airports. We may have to check your bag at the gate if the overhead bins are full or if there are restrictions. Overhead bin size varies, and some planes and American Eagle flights have smaller bins.

Carry-on baggage policy

Restricted items

For everyone's safety on board, some common items are restricted by the TSA and FAA. Be sure you know what you can carry on and what you can check in your bags before you go to the airport.

Hazardous materials

We don't transport hazardous materials, except for small amounts of dry ice, and we may remove and dispose of any hazardous material in your bags.

Restricted items

Firearms

You can travel with firearms in checked baggage only. Firearms must be declared to an agent at check-in. There are other rules that apply; be sure you understand the rules before you go to the airport.

Firearms

Pets and service animals

Depending on the animals' breed, size and requirements, pets can travel as a carry-on, be checked or transported with American Airlines Cargo. We only allow you to travel with your pet cats and dogs.

Service animals are welcome at no charge if they meet the requirements. The animal must fit on your lap, at your feet or under your seat, and cannot block the aisle. Dogs trained to detect explosives/drugs or trained for search and rescue (documentation required) are also welcome at no charge.

Emotional support animals require specific documentation; please review the requirements before travel.

What we cover

If your checked bag is lost, damaged or delayed, we will pay the actual value of the losses up to $3,500 (or up to $5,000 if you declare excess value).

Ticket types and refunds This content can be expanded

Each passenger must have a valid ticket to fly. A ticket is non-transferrable – it can't be used by or refunded to any other passenger. All refunds are made to the original form of payment.

How long a ticket is valid

In general, a ticket is valid for 1 year:

- If unused, you must start travel within 1 year of date the ticket was issued
- If partially used, you must complete travel within 1 year of the first completed flight

So for an unused ticket issued June 1, 2019, you must begin travel on the new ticket by June 1, 2020.

For a roundtrip ticket that was partially flown on March 1, 2019, you must complete all new travel by March 1, 2020.

These rules apply unless your ticket states otherwise.

Refunds

Generally, you have up to 24 hours from when you buy your ticket to get a full refund if you booked at least 48 hours before departure. You must cancel your trip within 24 hours of purchase for a refund. Some countries have different rules about refunds, and if so, we will follow those rules.

Refunds will be made only to the person who paid. Tickets issued for official government travel will be refunded only to the government agency that issued the transportation request.

Refundable tickets

If you bought a refundable ticket, decide not to travel and want a refund, we'll pay:

- The full amount of the ticket if travel hasn't started
- The value of the unused travel if the ticket is partially used

We'll refund the original credit card within 7 days (allow 1-2 billing cycles for credit to show). We'll process cash and check refunds within 20 days of receiving all your paperwork.

Some requests may take longer, for example, tickets bought outside the U.S. in another currency or tickets that require research or verification. We are not liable for longer processing times.

Refunds FAQs

Non-refundable tickets

We don't refund cash for non-refundable tickets. But if you cancel your trip before departure, you can use the value of your ticket toward future travel on American. You'll need to rebook and travel within 1 year and pay a change fee plus any difference in fare.

We will refund a non-refundable ticket (or the value of the unused segment of your trip) to the original form of payment if:

- You cancel within 24 hours of booking (and booked at least 2 days before departure).
- We cancel your flight
- We make a schedule change that results in a change of more than 4 hours to your departure time
- A passenger or their travel companion dies.*
- Military orders require you to cancel your trip.*

*Supporting paperwork is required.

Refunds of taxes

You can request a refund of eligible taxes included in the ticket price. If eligible, we'll refund the original form of payment.

- Destination-specific taxes not imposed by us may be eligible
- Taxes we must pay whether or not you travel are not eligible.

Involuntary refunds

If you are due a refund because we failed to operate on schedule (a delay to your departure time of over 4 hours) or we refused to let you fly for reasons other than your violation of this contract, we will refund you:

• The full amount of the ticket and any extras if travel hasn't started

• The value of the unused travel if the ticket is partially used

If you were involuntarily denied boarding, we will not charge any refund fees or penalties.

We will only refund tickets issued by American Airlines and reserve the right to only make refunds in a currency or country of the original purchase.

Ticket validity This content can be expanded

Tickets are valid for travel only when used with all terms and conditions of sale.

Your ticket is valid only when:

- Travel is to/from the cities on your ticket and in your trip record
- You meet all the fare requirements

Fare requirements, like dates, special purpose or status, may include:

- Dates of stay (a Saturday night, weekend, etc.)

- Attendance at an event (to qualify for a meeting or convention fare)

Your ticket is not valid when:

- You don't meet the dates of stay, purpose or status requirements for the fare
- We find that the ticket was bought using an exploitative practice

Prohibited booking practices

Reservations made to exploit or circumvent fare and ticket rules are prohibited.

Examples include (but are not limited to):

- Purchasing a ticket without intending to fly all flights to gain lower fares (hidden city ticketing)
- Buying a ticket without intending to travel, including to gain access to our airport lounges or other facilities
- Combining 2 or more roundtrip excursion fares end-to-end to circumvent minimum stay requirements (back-to-back ticketing)
- Booking a ticket in someone's name without the person's consent (which is illegal)
- Holding reservations for reasons like securing upgrades, blocking seats or obtaining lower fares
- Booking duplicate or impossible trips, for example multiple trips for the same passenger around the same time (trips a passenger physically could not complete)

If we find evidence that you or your agent are using a prohibited practice, we reserve the right to:

- Cancel any unused part of the ticket
- Refuse to let the passenger fly and check bags
- Not refund an otherwise refundable ticket
- Charge you for what the ticket would have cost if you hadn't booked it fraudulently
- Require you refund to us any compensation we provided like bag delivery costs, and reimbursement for clothes or toiletries because of late or lost bags

Fare errors

If we sell a fare in error, we have the right to cancel the ticket. This includes fare errors, computer errors and third party errors (human or computer). We try to prevent, detect and correct errors as soon as possible.

When we issue a mistaken fare, we'll void the ticket, give a full refund and notify you within:

- 72 hours after we learn of the mistaken fare
- At least 24 hours before departure if you bought the ticket less than 72 hours before departure

Rule 130 Fares

Effective November 9 for travel to/from the US.

(A) General

The mileage routings or specified routings contained in this tariff shall apply only when transportation is via the Atlantic Ocean/Pacific Ocean or wholly within the Western Hemisphere on through AA fare components, or on agreed industry fares when AA performs governing carriage as described in Rule 5 of this tariff, unless otherwise prohibited by this tariff. Fares apply only for carriage from the airport at the point of origin to the airport at the point of destination, and do not include ground transfer service between airports and city centers, except where Rule 30 specifically provides that such ground transfer service will be furnished without additional charge.

- (B) Fare construction definitions
 - (1) Round Trip

Round trip means travel from one point and return to the same point comprised of no more than two fare components, for which the same mileage surcharge and/or higher intermediate point city pair applies to both the outbound and return fare components.

Class of service, seasonality, midweek and weekend fare differences are not considered in the application of this definition. This definition does not apply to around the world journeys.

(2) Čircle Trip

Circle trip means travel from a point and return to the same point by a continuously charged air route which does not qualify under the definition of Round Trip above; provided that, where no reasonable direct scheduled air route is available between two points, a break in the circle may be traveled by any other means without prejudice to the circle trip.

- (3) One Way Trip One way trip is any journey which, for fare calculation purposes, is not a complete round or circle trip entirely by air.
- (4) Around the world Trips Around the world trips are circle trips which apply to travel from one point and return to the same point which involves only one crossing of the Atlantic Ocean and only one crossing of the Pacific Ocean.
- (5) Open Jaw Trips
 An open jaw trip is travel which is essentially of a round trip nature, except that:
 (a) For Single Open Jaw the outward point of arrival and the inward point of departure are not the same, or the

(b)	arrival and the inward point of departure are not the same, and the outward point of departure and the inward point of arrival are not the same.
	Note: If a rule states simply "open jaw", it

- permits a single or a double open jaw.
 (6) Side Trip
 Side means a round trip, circle trip, one way or open jaw journey to and or from the same en-route point of a fare component. When a fare for a side trip is charged separately, apply the provisions of fares for round trips, circle trips, one way and open jaw trips.
- one way and open jaw trips.
 (7) Special Area Definitions
 Each of the following areas is considered one country, for the purpose of fare construction;
 (a) Canada and U.S.A.
 - (b) Denmark, Norway and Sweden

(C) Applicable fares

- Published applicable fares between two points take precedence over any combination of fares in the same class of service that produces a higher total fare. A published fare includes a fare obtained by combining an applicable published arbitrary with a published international fare.
- (2) Fares are applicable in the direction of travel except when more than one fare component is involved. For any fare component which terminates in the country of origin, the fare applicable to such fare component from the country of origin must be charged. For round trip, circle trip, and/or open jaw fares combined end-on-end with other fares, the country from which such fare(s) is charged is considered the country of origin. For a fare(s) charged on side trips, the point of fare interruption is considered as the point of origin for determining the fare directionality of the separately charged side trip components. Exception 1: For fare components between the Exception 1: For fare components between the U.S.A./Canada or between Denmark/Norway/ Sweden returning to the country of origin, the fare from country of origin shall apply. Exception 2: (Applicable to Open Jaw normal and special fares) For tickets originating and terminating in Europe (except for tickets with travel wholly within Europe), when the open jaw is between countries in Europe, the applicable fare for : AA1 r: American Airlines - AA

> the last fare component into the country of destination shall be the fare applicable from the country of destination. EXAMPLE: AMS-WAS-MAD FARE CONSTRUCTION: AMS-WAS 1/2 RT PEX FARE MAD-WAS 1/2 RT PEX FARE

- (3) Directional fares may be used in the construction of circle trip fares. However, for the last fare component into the country of origin, the fare applicable to such fare component must be used.
- (4) All published fares governed by this tariff and all fares constructed in accordance with this tariff are applicable only when in compliance with all the provisions governing travel as stated herein. If a diagrammatic or linear routing is specified in connection with a fare, such routing must be observed for that portion of the transportation covered by that fare. Mileage routings (see Maximum Permitted Mileage Tariff No. MPM-1, C.A.B. No. 424, NTA(A) No. 239) are applied to any published or constructed fare.
- (5) The fare paid is applicable only when international travel commences in the country of the point of origin shown on the ticket, i.e. if international travel actually commences outside the country of the ticketed point of origin, the fare must be recalculated from the point where international travel actually began. For example, if a ticket is purchased at the fare for travel Athens-Frankfurt-New York, and the passenger commences travel in Frankfurt instead of Athens, the fare must be recalculated at the Frankfurt-New York level.
- when a PU contains fare components for which (6)different percentages apply, the fare for each percentage component shall be calculated using the percentage applicable to that component. Fare construction checks (HIP, CTM, etc.) shall be made using the levels which result for applying such percentage. Example Journey A-B-C-D Children's fare: A-C 50% of the adult fare. A-D 50% of the adult fare. B-C 67% of the adult fare. B-D 67% of the adult fare. Calculate amounts resulting from the application of the above percentages. Using these amounts apply minimum fares checks (such as HIP/CTM checks) (7)The fare for a fare component shall be the lower amount which can be determined according to:
 - (a) Mileage System:
 - The application of the Mileage System, as described in Section (D)(4) and following in this rule, or

American Airlines - AA

- (b) Lowest Combination of Fares Principle: The lowest combination of sector fares over intermediate point(s) on the itinerary, subject to applicable minimum fare checks. Fares constructed by the Lowest Combination of Fares Principle may utilize through mileage over any combination of sector fares used, even though such fares are shown separately, provided that all transportation is via the fare construction point(s).
- (D) Construction of fares
 - (1) Combinations

Fares may be combined with other fares, provided that such fares permit the combination.

(a) Round Trips:

The fare for a round trip is the round trip fare published for the desired routing and class of service charged. If no round trip fare is published, the applicable fare is the sum of the one way fares published for the desired routing and class of service used. When transportation is partially via fares governed by this tariff and partially via fares published in other tariffs, 50 percent of a round trip fare published in other tariffs will be used to construct a round trip fare provided that:

- (i) fares which, by their terms, are not combinable with other fares, must not be used in the construction of round trip fares;
- (ii) No part of the round trip is via the services of a nonscheduled carrier or on a charter or military flight.
- (b) Circle Trips:
 - The fare for a circle trip is:
 - (i) The sum of 50 percent of the applicable round trip fares for the class of service charged for the respective sections of the itinerary from the point of origin via the route of travel to destination that produces the lowest fare of the class of service used. If no round trip fare is published, the applicable fare is the sum of the one way fares published for the desired routing and class of service charged, and/or;
 - (ii) When transportation is partially via fares governed by this tariff and partially via fares published in other tariffs, 50 percent of a round trip fare governed by this tariff may be combined with 50 percent of a round trip fare published in other tariffs to construct a circle trip fare provided that:

 (aa) fares which, by their own terms, are not combinable with other fares must not be used in the construction of circle trip fares;

- (bb) the most restrictive fare rule provision, as listed in rule 2 permitted combination (9) applicable to any fare used in the construction shall apply to the entire trip;
- (cc) no part of the circle trip is via the services of a non-scheduled carrier or on a charter or military flight.
- (c) Open Jaw Trips: (i) Normal Fares

Normal Fares Travel comprising only two International fare components with a surface break(s) that, unless otherwise specified in a normal fare Rule, may be between any two points/countries in the sub-area of unit origin and/or within the same/different IATĂ area(s) at destination, for which the fare is assessed as a single pricing unit using half round trip fares. provided that except for travel between Areas 2 and 3, and except for travel between Area 1 and Area 3 via the Pacific, and except for travel between Area 1 and Area 3 via the Atlantic, travel must be via fares of the same global indicators to and from points of the surface break, and when the surface break is at the destination and the open jaw points are in different sub-areas or IATA Areas, the open jaw mileage must be shorter than the accumulated TPM of the longer fare component. For purposes of this Note: provision, the following are considered tariff sub-areas:

- Area 1: North America, Central America (including Panama), South America (excluding Panama), IATA Caribbean. Area 2: IATA Europe, Africa, Middle East. Asia (excluding Area 3: Southwest Pacific), Southwest Pacific.
- (ii) Special Fares Unless otherwise stated in the applicable fare rule, the fare for an open jaw special fare trip is the sum of 50 percent of the applicable round trip fare for each leg of the open jaw. Exception: Between Bahamas, Bermuda, Cayman Islands, Cuba, Dominican Republic, Haiti, Jamaica, Turks and Caicos Islands and the rest of IATA Caribbean sub-area: No special fare open jaws are permitted.

AA1

American Airlines - AA

- (d) Unless otherwise stated in an applicable fare rule, 50 percent of a round trip fare governed by one rule must not be combined with 50 percent of another round trip fare governed by a different rule in order to construct a different type of round or circle trip fare.
- (e) Special round trip fares must not be used to construct Around-The-World fares, nor 50 percent of a round or circle trip special fare may be used to construct another type of round or circle trip special fare.
- (f) When constructing open jaw or circle trip special fares involving fares with different conditions, the most restrictive conditions as described in Rule (2) Permitted Combination (9) shall govern the entire journey.
- (g) Unless otherwise stated in an applicable fare rule, when combining special fares with other types of fares, the restrictive provisions of the special fare apply only to the special fare and not to any other fare when used in end-on-end combinations.
- (h) Subjourney combinations (Applicable to tickets issued by and validated on AA.) Α journey may be broken within a tariff sub-area, as defined in (D)(1)(c)(i)(ii)(bbb) of this rule, to form independent subjourneys, the total of which may be lower than a through fare for the same class of service. This provision applies to one way, round trip, and circle trip journeys. Additionally, for such combinations, fare rules for all fares used in a subjourney shall be validated to such subjourney separately and independently of any other subjourney, as if such subjourney were ticketed separately, provided that the combinations of subjourneys is permitted by end-on-end provisions of the fares combined. One way subjourneys may be_combined end-on-end with round/circle trip subjourneys and vice versa.
- (i) Combination with other fares may not be used to extend the period of validity.

Tariff: AA1 Carrier: Ame

American Airlines - AA

- (j) Partly via Air and Partly via Sea (Applicable to round trip and Around-The-World-Fares) When tickets are purchased prior to commencement of carriage for a round trip or around the world journey for combined air and sea travel, the air fare for each one way section of the air journey is 50 percent of the all year round trip fare published in this tariff and applicable between the points and via the class of service charged. A break in the round trip is permitted to allow passengers to make independent provisions for carriage by any means of transportation between airports and adjacent seaports.
- (2) Combination of Arbitraries with International Fares

When combining arbitraries with international fares, the fare for such transportation will be established by combining the published arbitrary and the published international fare for the fare class applicable to the transportation. A passenger may be routed via any gateway city regardless of the point(s) used in establishing the fare, subject to the provisions of (C) above.

- (3) Surface Transportation Segments
 - (a) Normal Fares

For tickets containing only normal fares - If the mileage for an international surface break is:

- (i) Greater than the total TPMs over the routing traveled from the point origin to the point of commencement of the surface break, and
- (ii) The surface break is not included in the through fare, the journey from the point of origin up to the surface break must be ticketed separately.

Exception: This does not apply to permissible surface sectors in (f) below.

- (b) Surface Transportation Due to Lack of Reasonably Direct Air Service When no reasonably direct scheduled air service is available between two points of a circle trip, a break in the circle trip may be traveled by any other means of transportation without changing the status of the circle trip.
- (c) For Tickets Containing Both Air and Surface Transportation Segments.
 When a journey by air is interrupted by the use of surface transportation between points not listed in sub-paragraph (f) below, the fare must be constructed by whichever of the following methods produces the lowest fare:

 (i) The sum of two or more applicable one way fares.

- (ii) A one way, round or circle trip fare covering all portions of the itinerary whether travelled by air or surface transportation.
- (iii) A round or circle trip fare for that portion of the itinerary which meets the requirements of a round or circle trip, plus one or more one way fares for those portions not included in the round or circle trip fare.
- (d) A surface break may occur on a routing fare provided both points of the surface break are on the specified routing.
- (e) A through fare may not be charged over a surface sector at the point of origin of an itinerary.
- (f) Permissible Surface Transportation Sectors(i) When a fare component includes surface
 - (i) When a fare component includes surface transportation between the following pairs of intermediate points, the mileage between such intermediate points is disregarded when computing sector mileages.
 - (ii) The exclusion of these mileages will not affect the status of a round or circle trip.
 - (iii) These sectors must not be used as points of origin/destination.

in connection with a fare governs the maximum distance a passenger is allowed to travel en route between two particular points at the direct through one way or half round trip fare. In order to determine whether a desired routing between two points is permissible at the through one way or half round trip fare, the following procedures shall apply.

- (a) Determine the applicable MPM between the terminal points of the fare.
- (b) Add the ticketed point mileages (TPM) between the cities on the itinerary, including all intermediate ticketed points. Intermediate points of through flights are not considered when computing mileages. The ticketed point mileages to be used to determine the actual mileage for the itinerary are those published in the International Air Transport Association Ticketed Point Mileage Manual.
 - "Ticketed Points" are those Note: points which would be shown in the "good for passage" section of a passenger ticket. Two flight numbers or two carriers (such as an interchange flight) are not permitted on the flight coupon. If, on a through fare, a portion of the journey is to be travelled by means of surface transportation, the direct or lowest combination of currently published ticketed point mileages is to be used, whether or not air services exist over such sectors, unless noted in Permissible Surface Transportation exception cities (3)(f) above.
- (c) Compare the total TPM's to the applicable MPM permitted at the direct fare between the two points. If the total TPM's are equal to or less than the MPM, the itinerary is allowed at the published direct fare.
- (d) If the total TPM's for a fare component exceed the MPM published in connection with a fare, a surcharge becomes necessary. Where the sum of the ticketed point mileages for the routing option is greater than the maximum permitted mileage, the direct route fare shall be surcharged in accordance with the following formula:

component.

- (cc) Unless otherwise stated in the applicable fare rule(s), a ticket may not include more than four international ticketed point arrivals or four international ticketed point departures in any single country including arrival and departure surface sector points.
- (dd) For tickets originating in Area 1:

No fare component within Area 1 may include more than one international departure and arrival at any ticketed point in the country where travel originates on the ticket.

- (ee) Except for Journeys wholly within South America For a pricing unit originating in Brazil, a fare component from a point in Brazil must not include more than 2 domestic sectors in Brazil. Example: FLN X/CWB-IGU-X/SAO-LON: A through fare FLN-LON is not
 - permitted. POA-RIO-SSA-LIS at a through fare POS-LIS is permitted.
- (ff) Fare components to/from Azores are not applicable for routings which include travel within Azores.
- (gg) For tickets originating in Germany, a fare component to/from a point in Germany may not include more than two domestic flights in Germany.
- (hh) The mileage system does not apply to domestic travel within Madagascar in connection with international travel.
- (ii) The mileage system does not apply to domestic travel within Myanmar in connection with international travel.
- (jj) VN domestic sectors within Viet Nam may not be included in international through fares. Full domestic local fare(s) are to be collected.
- (k) Permitted Specified Routings The specified routings mentioned below shall be permitted at the direct fare, provided that the fare between the points named is applied, and that the route is via the points specified below, and no additional point(s) is (are) added. (5) Travel Via a Higher-Rated Intermediate Point(a) Normal Fares

- (i) The through fare between origin and destination must not be lower than the applicable fare, including validation of seasons, blackouts, day-of-week application, transfers, stopovers, specific flight application, specified routing, and limitation of indirect travel;
 - (aa) from the point of origin to any intermediate stopover point; or
 - (bb) from any intermediate stopover point to the destination; or
 - (cc) between any two intermediate stopover points along the routing of travel.
 - Exception 1: When journey originates in West Africa, higher intermediate points must be checked from all en route ticketed points in West Africa. Exception 2: See chart in (d) below

Exception 2: See chart in (d) below for exceptions.

(ii) When the normal fare for a fare component of an itinerary is lower than an intermediate point normal fare, the fare from origin to destination must be raised to the amount of such higher fare. All conditions of the normal fare between origin and destination shall apply.

Exception: See chart in (d) below for exceptions.

- (iii) If travel from the origin to the destination of the fare component exceeds the published MPM, the appropriate excess mileage surcharge must be applied to the higher intermediate fare.
- (iv) When comparing normal fares of the same class of service, the lowest qualifying mileage or routing fare should be used for comparison (See (F) below).
 (aa) A first class fare is compared
 - aa) A first class fare is compared with a first class fare; if no first class fare, compare with intermediate class fare (or next lower class fare).

- highest economy class fare.
- (cc) An economy class fare is compared with an economy class fare, if no economy class fare, use next higher fare.

Note: For the purpose of this

- provision, inventory is not considered.(v) When comparing normal fares, the comparison will be made in the same
- direction as the fare component. Special Fares
- If in any routing otherwise permissible at the direct route special fare there is a direct route special fare(s) of the same class of service from;
 - (i) Fare component origin to each intermediate stopover point,
 - (ii) Each intermediate stopover point to the fare component destination.
 - (aa) The special fare of the fare component shall not be less than the lower/lowest applicable special fare of the same fare type.
 - (bb) If there is no matching applicable special fare of the same type, the special fare of the fare component shall not be any less than the lower/lowest applicable special fare within the same fare type group.
 - (cc) If there is no applicable special fare of the same type, the special fare of the fare component shall not be less than the lower/lowest next applicable fare within the next higher fare type group. Continue to the next group only if there is no applicable fare found.
 - (dd) If there is no applicable special fare within any higher fare type group, the direct route special fare surcharged if necessary should be used.
 - Note 1: The conditions which define applicable special fares are day of week, seasonality (including blackout dates), flight application, stopovers, transfer and limitations of indirect travel, and routing validation.
 - Note 2: Advance purchase, minimum/maximum stay, and inventory is not considered in determining which intermediate fares are

Fares/Unpublished Intermediate Point Fares/Side Trip

- (i) When a fare component is routed via an intermediate point for which no applicable fare exists due to routing/stopover/transfer restrictions, ignore the restrictive provisions and select the fare most applicable to the route of travel.
- (ii) When no applicable fare exists due to limitations of indirect travel; ignore the restriction of indirect travel between the points for which the higher intermediate fare check applies.
- (iii) When a fare component includes an intermediate ticketed point for which no through fare is published, the HIP check will not apply.
- (iv) For the purpose of the higher intermediate fare check, when both the origin and destination points of a side trip are shown as connections, a stopover will be considered to have been taken at such point(s) if more than 24 hours elapses between the arrival at the point of origin of the side trip and the departure from the termination point of the side trip.
- (6) Construction of Fares via Different Classes of Service

(Applicable to normal fare travel)

- (a) When travel is via different classes of service, the fare must not be higher than the lowest fare resulting from the following:
 - (i) The combination of sector fares for the class(es) of service used.
 - (ii) Within each fare component, the applicable through fare for the lowest class of service, plus a differential in the direction of the fare component for each sector where a higher class of service is used; such differential being the difference between the applicable one way or half round trip fare (surcharged, if necessary) for the lowest class of service charged and the corresponding one way or half round trip fare for the higher class fare of the same type.
 - Exception 1: Applicable to fare components between Area 1 - Area 2/Area 3. When economy class service is used and the transatlantic segment is flown in intermediate class, a differential between economy and

- highest class of service is used. Example: NYC-Y-LON-F-ATH Charge: NYC-ATH, C Differential: LON-ATH, F Minus: LON-ATH. C
- Minus: LON-ATH, C (v) For the purpose of this provision, fares are published in the following descending order of classes of service.
 - (aa) First Class
 - (bb) Intermediate Class
 - (cc) Economy Class
- (b) For all first and intermediate class fares: Unless otherwise stated in a fare rule, when paying through AA intermediate class fares, passengers are permitted to sit in first class on AA flights within Area 1 not offering intermediate class seating.
- (c) It is permissible to calculate a differential over segments not booked in a higher class provided the following requirements are met.
 - At least one segment of the through fare component must be booked in the lower class of service applicable to the fare being charged.
 - (ii) The resulting differential must be lower than the differential for the segment(s) where a higher class is used or the combination of differentials when applicable.

- (iii) The differential must not be calculated beyond the terminal points (origin and destination) of the through component.
- (d) The application of differential construction must not be used to circumvent any stopover or transfer restrictions applicable to the through fare for the lowest class of service charged.
- (e) Differentials are calculated using fares of the same type. For this purpose, "fare types" are defined as either:
 - (i) Unrestricted (e.g. compare Business Unrestricted to Economy Unrestricted)
 - (ii) Restricted (e.g. compare First Restricted to Economy Restricted)
 - Exception: In the absence of a lower class fare for the sector for which a differential is charged, use the applicable fare for the next lower class.
 - Note: There may be more than one fare with the same fare type for a class of service as defined in 6(e)(i) and (ii) above. If more than one applicable fare exist for the same fare type within the same class of service which results in more than one differential calculation, the one providing the lowest result must be used. If a calculation using fares of the same type is not possible, differing fare types must be used. when multiple calculations are possible, a zero differential is not permitted as the lowest result of such calculations. ATPCO fare type codes (e.g. ER/ERS) are not used to further differential fares of the same type.

American Airlines - AA

AA1

- (7) Around The World Fares Around-the-World fares are circle trip fares which are applicable to continuous eastbound or westbound travel commencing from and returning to the same point via both the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans.
 - (a) An Around-the-World fare is constructed by using that particular combination of two or more half round trip fares which produces the lowest total fare from the point of origin and return to the same point.
 - (b) Unless provided in specified fare rules, only normal fares may be used to construct an Around-the-World fare.

(8) Minimum Fares

Having established the international fare for open jaw, circle trip, or Around-the-World journey in accordance with normal rules, including the higher intermediate point rule and mileage surcharge, where applicable, a separate calculation ignoring mileage surcharge must be made. When this separate calculation results in a higher fare, such higher fare must be charged. Separate fares and separate minimum checks are charged for side trips. For the purpose of minimum fare checks, when both the origin and destination of a side trip are shown as connections, a stopover will be considered to have been taken at such point(s) if more than 24 hours elapses between the arrival at the point of origin of the side trip and the departure from the termination point of the side trip. (a)

(b) Circle Trip Minimum

The fare for a circle trip must not be less than the highest direct round trip fare from the point of origin to all stopover points on the circle trip for the lowest class of service charged via the applicable global indicator. When fares charged from the point of origin to stopover American Airlines - AA points differ according to carrier(s)/global indicators, the fare to be used for the check must be the lower of such carrier(s)/global indicator fares. Ignore inventory/routing/stopover restrictions/transfer restrictions when determining the direct fare. Exception 1: The circle trip minimum check is not applied to a point(s) on the journey permitted to be disregarded by the higher intermediate point rule.

- Exception 2: The circle trip minimum check is not applied to an itinerary or sub-journey consisting entirely of special fares.
- Exception 3: The circle trip minimum check is not applied if an itinerary consists entirely of end-on-end round trips.
- Exception 4: The circle trip minimum check is not applied to a sub-journey that contains a mixture of normal and special fares.
- Exception 5: The circle trip minimum check is not applied a connecting point(s) that is a fare break point(s) on a journey. Exception 6: The circle_trip minimum check
- Exception 6: The circle trip minimum check is not applied to an itinerary containing a government/military fare.
- (c) Around-the-World Minimum
 - After an Around-the-World fare has been (i) constructed, all stopover points on the routing must be checked to determine whether any round trip fares exist from the point of origin to any stopover points on the routing which are higher than the constructed fare. The fare for an Around-the-World journey must not be less than the highest direct normal round trip fare applicable to the class of service charged from the point of origin to any stopover point on the route of travel to any stopover point on the route of travel. However, any point(s) permitted to be disregarded by the higher intermediate point rule need not be checked for the purpose of Around-the-world minimum fare check. In general, transatlantic round trip fares from the point of origin to other points on the routing differ from the corresponding transpacific round trip fares from the point of origin to the same points. For the purpose of this rule, transatlantic round trip fares must be compared with transpacific round trip fares from point of origin to each stopover point on the routing; and the lower of the two will be considered the direct fare. Separate fares are assessed for side trips. One Class of Service

American Airlines - AA

- (ii) One Class of Service The fare for an Around-the-World journey traveled in one class of service must not be less than the highest direct round trip fare from the point of origin to any stopover point on the routing.
- (iii) Different classes of Services The fare for an Around-the-World journey involving different classes of service must not be less than the highest direct round trip fare for the lowest class of service charged from the point of origin to any stopover point on the routing, plus applicable differentials for sectors traveled in higher classes of service.

Rule 135 Stopovers

- (A) Stopovers will be permitted under the following conditions:
 - Stopovers must be arranged with AA in advance (1)and specified on the ticket.
 - (2) Stopovers will be permitted at any point which can be included in an itinerary constructed either by the use of a mileage routing or as specified in the published routing, unless such stopover is prohibited by the AA'S tariff or government regulations.
 - (3) For travel between Canada and the U.S./Puerto Rico/Virgin Islands, a stopover, as used herein, will occur when a passenger arrives at an intermediate or junction transfer point on a flight and fails to depart from such intermediate or junction transfer point on: (a) The first flight on which space is - available; or The flight that will provide for the (b) passenger's earliest arrival at intermediate or junction transfer point(s) or destination point, via the carrier and class of service as shown on the passenger's ticket. Provided, however that in no event will a stopover occur when the passenger departs from the intermediate or junction transfer point on a flight shown in the carrier's official general schedules and/or service patterns as departing within four hours after his arrival at such point.

 - Stopover provisions for normal/special fares (applicable to all fares for which stopovers (4)other than at the point of turnaround are prohibited or restricted in number.) When travel at a through fare is interrupted by surface travel, either at intermediate points or at the point of turnaround, the points of disembarkation and reembarkation of the interrupted portion of travel will be considered together as one stopover or the one point of turnaround.
 - (5) Only one stopover is permitted at any single point on the itinerary of a journey travelled at a one way or half a round trip fare. The origin and destination or point of turnaround, as the case may be, may not be included in such itinerary more than once, regardless as to whether or not a stopover is made at such point.

(B) Except as otherwise provided, stopovers will be permitted free of charge at all intermediate points on routings applicable to fares between points in the U.S.A./Canada on the one hand and points outside the U.S.A./Canada on the other hand. Rule 140 Routings

- (A) Application fares governed by this tariff apply only via the routings specified in connection with such fares.
 (B) Poutings
- (B) Routings
 - (1) Routings are applicable in either direction.
 - (2) Any routing published between two points shall apply via any nonstop or local service of AA provided carriage is in a generally continuous direction.
 - (3) If more than one routing is applicable via the same fare, the passenger, prior to the issuance of the ticket, may specify the routing. If no routing is specified by the passenger, the carrier will determine the routing.

of invoice therefor. Such excess mileage charges will be made at a rate per mile to be fixed by AA from time to time. For travel during any calendar month period, this rate shall be the rate specified in holder's statement for the preceding month. Additional identification (such as driver's license or credit card) may, at AA's discretion, be required. AAirpass is valid for use only by the individual whose name appears on the card. AAirpass cards and purchaser's rights under this rule are not transferable, and coupons used in conjunction with AAirpass travel have no cash value.  - Upon receipt of a refund request within 90 days, American shall perform the following calculations pertaining to holder's AAirpass and refund the lesser amount of a or b (may be $0), after deducting sums due for excess mileage flown:

 (a) Remaining full months before expiration
- Total AAirpass months purchased x purchase price * equals a (b) remaining mileage*
- Total mileage purchased* x purchase price * equals B (*including additional mileage)
 - (3) For purposes of applying such formulas to refund on lifetime AAirpasses, those AAirpasses shall be determined to have the following terms: regular lifetime AAirpass - 120 months (10 years): unlimited mileage lifetime AAirpass - 200 months. to determine the mileage purchased with any regular lifetime AAirpass, multiply the annual mileage allowance by the number of months given in the preceding sentence, and add any additional mileage purchased. The second formula above is inapplicable to refunds on unlimited mileage lifetime AAirpasses or unlimited 5 year term AAirpasses.
- (O) (The provisions of this paragraph do not apply to leisure lifetime, regular lifetime or unlimited lifetime AAirpasses.) Where the purchaser of an AAirpass is a corporation which has designated in the contract between AA and the purchaser that the holder of the AAirpass will be an employee of that corporation, such corporation may redesignate the employee of such corporation who will be the holder of the AAirpass in accordance with the terms of the contract between AA and the purchaser.
